Arthur D. Arnson

August 29, 2011

To Dad, with love. Your commitment to Jewish communal and congregational life in Cleveland was an inspiration to your children. Cindy Arnson

Barry Augenbraun (Dov Shlomo Ben Zeev and Bracha)

September 20, 2011

Husband, father, grandpa, brother, community member, scholar, teacher, advisor, traveller, mentor, mensch, loving, encouraging, generous, supportive, opinionated, brilliant, honest, reliable, funny, devoted... my Pops.

Leslie (Augenbraun) Goldman

Shirley (Fleishman) Barocas

September 24, 2011

My mom was a strong, smart and stubborn woman who carried on through a life that began poor with Russian immigrant parents and continued through years of mothering four children (all with similar strong personalities!) while working full-time when most other moms didn't. I hope she's found a good mahjong game by now!

Susan Barocas

Kate Baruch

June 2011

My mother-in-law sang and danced with the stars in the 1940s, had a radio show, wrote TV ads about dishes "so shiny I can see myself," and gave up that limelight to raise a family. We miss her powerful soul and gentle voice.

Irene Bleiweiss

Martin Bleiweiss

April 2011

My father was a child of NY's Lower East Side, WWII vet, and postal worker. His talents including paintings, mosaics, carpentry, and making playthings for his children and grandchildren. He needed only a newspaper and crossword puzzle to be happy. "Who is rich? He who is happy with what he's got." Pirkei Avot to which he overtly responded." Tough to the end, he outlived all medical expectations.

Diane Tepfet

Ruhama (Ruby) Rothkopf Ullman

August 20, 2011

Born November 18, 1919, Aunt Ruby was called Chamke within the family. At age 12, she contracted rheumatic fever (then considered a death sentence). She defied that and many other expectations by living long, becoming a chemist, marrying, and bearing three children. She was my mother's support and counselor.

Ellen Garshick

Gloria Whitman

Rich, raw memories – not yet memorial-ready.
Bright, beautiful, radiant, daring –
Pouring every ounce of energy into being.
Devoted, caring,
Smiling, welcoming,
Teaching, learning,
Reading, writing, working hard,
Creating, building,
Cooking, tasting – with your fingers!
Adding flavor,
Asking good questions,
Thinking ahead,
Persevering –
Doing right,
Inspiring,
Loving,
Betty.

Michael Schwartz

September 27, 2011

Beloved uncle, dedicated to his family and faith. A long-time leader of his Long Island synagogue and a committed advocate for cancer research. In looks and deeds, he connected our kids to their Zayde.

Garber-Schwartz family

Hilda Siegel

October 20, 2010

My mother joined with You in giving me life, and I am grateful, despite her terrible acts against me. May the loving fire of Your justice relieve her of the pain which corrupted the natural love of parent and child, and may she finally find peace in Your eternal bond.

Clare Feinson

Miriam Shore

January 6, 2011

Miriam Shore, nee Krensky, a confirmed Bostonian, was dedicated to her family, the Jewish community and Hebrew education. yehi zichrah baruch

Norman Shore

Benjamin I. Teplitz

August 4, 2011; 4 Av 5771

Beloved husband, father, father-in-law, and grandfather. Ben had an effervescent personality, cherished his family, loved the newsroom, and served as an important mentor to many reporters. We know he'd like to be remembered with a toast: "L'chaim! We love you always."

Dona Teplitz, Fran Teplitz, Mike Zielinski, Rosa Zielinski

Sandy Tepfer

June 2010

Cousin Sandy was born with severe cognitive limitations. "The Yankee theme song was one of the few aspects of his environment

Alex Briceno

September 11, 2011

Twenty eight years young, son of Allen Hirsh's best college friend. Athlete, artist, heart of gold. His father died tragically 2 years ago. His mother and sister survive.

Allen Hirsh

Judith Korey Charles

April 29, 2011

Aunt Judy was my mother's best friend (from the Brown Daily Herald,) our mentor and a tireless advocate for Central Park and other good causes. Smart, stylish, savvy, and an early foodie. (ran Roundtable for Women in Food and her own PR firm) Though not observant, she wrote a respected Guide to Kosher Dining and proudly announced her grandmotherhood at Anna Leah's bat mitzvah.

Rose Sue Berstein

Cary Condell

January 27, 2011

Cousin Cary dedicated his life as an esthete to the dissemination of knowledge about Ni-Honoto [Japanese swords], in which he dealt. Cary loved his devoted daughters Lauren and Tara.

Diane Tepfer

Carl Dahlke

November 6, 2010

I wrote a waltz for you that included food and drink. . .

A waltz in the form of an endive, like your big, blue eyes . . .

A tender, subtle waltz, all you-and-me . . .

Ah, life is so easy when I'm in your arms . . .

--from Valse dingue, by Boris Vian

Clare Feinson

Franklin (Skip) Fein

July 25, 2011

Beloved husband, father, grandfather and step-grandfather to our Alex and Josh. He was a devoted friend, an accomplished lawyer and a very sweet man.

Mitzi Goldman

March 21, 2011

Mitzi Goldman, our aunt, was devoted to her extended family and remembered every birthday and celebration. She was a prolific and generous knitter, a gifted athlete and competitor, and a firm believer that cleanliness is next to godliness.

Fran and Debbie Goldman

Sheila Goldsmith

January 26, 2011

My mother, Sheila Goldsmith, came from a large family and was devoted to all members of this extended family as well as our immediate family. She was happiest not only when with family, but also when contributing to community, whether that was being Chief Den Mother or teaching knitting classes.

Larry Goldsmith

Otto "Bob" Guttman

November 2, 2010

Bob was a friend of my father, Helmut, in Hamburg. They both escaped through the Kindertransport and somehow reconnected as adults. Our families were close. Bob and his lovely wife Inge lived for a while in the DC area. A kind father and friend, Bob is remembered and missed.

Zahara Heckscher

Deanne Herman

July 20, 2011

Dede was a long-time advocate for locally grown Maine food, one of the most spirited, optimistic, funnest, non-complaining of my women friends, and a DES daughter who fought cancer for over 25 years.

Diane Tepfer

Fred Hoffman

Muriel G. Korn

November 9, 2010

Born in 1918, Mrs. Korn dedicated her professional life to educating blind and visually impaired children and mentoring their teachers, taught Braille to the first non-residential class of blind students in the Philadelphia Public Schools in 1956 and retired as school principal several decades later. A visionary in her time, she was a lifelong friend and supporter to many, including my mother and me.

Rhonda Weiss

Pearl Kornit (nee Schachmer)

October 7, 2010

Pearl was my maternal aunt. She played both a motherly and grandmotherly role in our family's life.

Rachel Braun

Kathy Mary Maynard

August 14, 2011

Kathy was a dear friend who chose Judaism as enthusiastically as she enjoyed her favorite music, movies, and television shows.

Dottie, I, and all her friends, love her and will miss her greatly.

Zicrona l'bracha.

Larry Bernard

Jon Persoff

September 25, 2010

Jon Persoff was a good man, a devoted father to my son, Joshua, who he loved, nurtured and raised to a beautiful young man. He remains a light and a presence in my heart and in the hearts of all those he touched.

Mary Best

Dr. Audrey Sanders

January 22, 2011

Beloved aunt

David Goldston
